Not new, just "newly important"

All adventures involve risk. Move beyond your comfort zone by understanding the 'Trilogy' mix of risk, adventure and knowledge that enables the reduction of fear and management of danger, supporting survival. Bob has refined his survival skills over the past 30 years by learning from many traditional cultures in Australia and all over the world.

Andrew Liddawi

Mountains, oceans and off-road terrain are not boundaries

What does it take to break the barriers around a life on concrete yet surrounded by nature? Join Andrew Liddawi, founder and chair of WA's own Break the Boundary Inc. as he journeys into a world where mountains, oceans and off-road terrain are not a boundary for people with limited function.

Dr Duncan Picknoll

Breaking Barriers of Outdoor Learning in a Tertiary Setting

Dr Picknoll will discuss the barriers identified for Outdoor Education in his recently completed study on the The Nature and Scope of Outdoor Education in Western Australian Secondary Schools. Past and present students will also provide their perspective of the barriers they have broken in entering our outdoor industry.

Shawn Brogden

Outdoor Education - Thinking Outside the Box

In 2016 when a bushfire threatened to cancel his Outdoor Education program, Shaun utilised the Outdoor Education philosophy of think outside the box that spawned the idea to urbanize rather than abandon. From this experience he has found ways to deliver expedition based programs without touring far from the urban environment.

Roger Lewis & Mark Hudson

Value of the Residential Camp Program

In an increasing workload world for teaching staff, how can we make what we do more attractive to teachers in Government schools and how do we maximise the camp experience? Roger and Mark will share ideas gained from their experience in running Government Camp Schools over the last 45 years.

Peter Sharp

Tourism, Attraction and Recreation Developments in National Parks

Peter is the Executive Director of Parks and Visitor Services with DBCA and is responsible for ensuring that there is a balance between the need to protect and conserve protected areas in Western Australia areas and to provide opportunities for people to experience and recreate in them. Peter will give us an insight into the new developments in Parks & Wildlife.

Louise Fox

The Road Less Travelled

There is no challenge like pursuing an opportunity to combine your knowledge, skills, experience and passion to make something better. Sometimes this means adventure, exploration into the unknown and choosing the road less travelled. From starting her career 10 years ago in a male dominated industry, to becoming President of the WAMBA. Louise Fox tells us her story of breaking down barriers.

Dr May Carter

Breaking the Cycle: Mountain biking as a way of engaging at-risk and disengaged youth

Initial findings of a small research project that explored benefits for young people engaged in mountain biking indicate strong positive response from young people and a raft of benefits for all involved.

Steve Bennett

WA Trails Strategy

Steve will provide a summary of the current trails achievements, including what is driving progress and what is over the horizon. WA trails have a sound strategic direction but how does this work in a challenging fiscal environment?

Trudi Bennett

Learning within Nature – Resilience through Connection

Through connection with community within nature we learn about ourselves and the life that surrounds us. Trudi will delve into the Art of Mentoring Nature Connection model and look at some of the ways Educated by Nature embeds Nature Connection in programs

Neil McCulloch

First Hike Project

Equal parts social justice and love of nature led Neil to start First Hike Project. With an idea to help refugees feel at home in Australia and deepen their connection with country, passion and drive, Neil turned a simple idea into fruition. Neil will tell his story of breaking down the barriers and outdoor innovation with his initiative First Hike Project.

Robert Taylor

Camping with Custodians - A WAITOC Perspective

Robert will give a snapshot of Aboriginal tourism in WA and the programs that WAITOC are currently involved with such as the ATDP (Aboriginal Tourism Development Program) in partnership with Tourism WA and how this program works with the Camping with Custodians brand.

Liam Sullivan

Positive Education in Outdoor Education

After completing a Graduate Certificate in Education (Positive Education) from Melbourne University, Liam began adding Positive Education initiatives to Outdoor Education programmes at PLC. This session will touch on those ideas and more, suitable for people in the early stages of their journey into Positive Education.

Dale Tilbrook

Bush Tucker

Dale Tilbrook and her brother Lyall Tilbrook own Maali Mia Pty Ltd which operates the Maalinup Aboriginal Gallery. Dale has a wonderful knowledge of Bush Tucker and will share her wisdom with us as we discover and learn about the distinctive taste and aroma of Australian bush food.
